Create a new Google Account

Your Google Account is more than just Search.

Talk, chat, share, schedule, store, organize, collaborate, discover, and create. Use Google products from Gmail to Google+ to YouTube, view your search history, all with one username and password, all backed up all the time and easy to find at (you guessed it) Google.com.

Take it all with you.

A Google Account lets you access all your stuff — Gmail, photos, and more — from any device. Search by taking pictures, or by voice. Get free turn-by-turn navigation, upload your pictures automatically, and even buy things with your phone using Google Wallet.

Your profile

Now that you have a Google Account, create your Google profile. It's how you represent yourself publicly on the web, and helps friends and family find each other easily. Your profile also lets you publicly "+1" things you love on the web, so you and your friends benefit from each other's impeccable taste – in search results, on sites across the web, even on ads. Your profile is public, and can include as little as your name, or as much as you feel like adding – it's up to you. About profiles.

Profile updates

- We'll use a statistical authorship model to identify new articles that you write. We may also update bibliographic information for articles in your profile or identify duplicate article entries, which could be merged or deleted. How would you like to handle these changes?
 - Automatically update the list of articles in my profile. (recommended)
 - Don't automatically update my profile. Send me email to review and confirm updates.
- You can also add and remove individual articles, update their bibliographic data, and merge duplicate records. Rest assured, our automatic updates will preserve your edits and will not override them.
- We'll collect and display citations to your articles from all of Google Scholar. The citations will update automatically to reflect changes in your profile and in Google Scholar.
